Scoop Your Way
to Content Curation
April 9, 2014    11:00-11:50 a.m.
Dr. Laura Sheneman
Coordinator of Library Services
Harlingen CISD

What Is Curation?
http://vimeo.com/38524181

http://www.scoop.it/
Who were some people I could think of that I respected and trusted to give me good content?

• Joyce Valenza
• Buffy Hamilton
• Gwyneth Jones
• Joyce Valenza
• Shannon McClintock Miller
• Local professor (Dr. Rene Corbeil)
• Local leader (Ann Vega, Region One)

Curation

Recommendations are based on the key words you set up for your page.
Slide 13

Curation

Slide 14

What Can You Do With It?

- Create a simple webpage for a single topic.
- Publish a magazine for colleagues or like-minded people.
- Organizing materials/links in one location for your classes.
- Track an active news item.
- Blog.

Slide 15

Curation

Curation

Curation
Why Students Like Scoop.it

1. Inclusion of visual elements
2. Community networking
3. Immediate tap-in to a broad range of social media
4. Autonomy and expression in a collaborative environment
5. Ongoing, succinct conversation through commenting
6. Ownership of personal learning
7. Mobile Learning Potential

Why Educators like Scoop.it

1. It provides personal learning and deeper understanding of topics
2. Individual or cooperative work
3. Research using filters
4. Understanding of how keywords attract online readers
5. Activity similar to discussion boards, a necessary skill for online LMS environments
6. All levels of Bloom's Revised Taxonomy, the low-order to high-order cognitives educators consider when choosing technology tools
7. Mobile Learning Potential

Slide 19

LET’S START SCOOPING!
http://www.scoop.it/

Slide 20

View from a Cell Phone

Slide 21

Additional Resources

• Various Other Curation Tools - https://contentcuration.zeef.com/robin.good • Training Video -
  http://www.teachertrainingvideos.com/scoopit/
• Libraries As Interfaces, Extending The Possibilities | LIANZA 2012 Keynote – http://justadandak.com/libraries-as-interfacesextending-the-possibilities-lianza-2012-keynote/